To whom it may concern:

My name is Lyn Kasper, my husband Jake Kasper, and I have had the pleasure of caring for Daisy for several days.

I would like to share with you the behavior I have personally witnessed from her.

1. Daisy is a very loving animal; she listens well in the house and when she is outside on her leash. I took her for several walks and even though she could overpower me she has not tried and listens to my directions. I was able to have her stop sit and wait, was able to redirect her easily if she got a smell of something new or interesting.
2. I tested her for food aggression, I was able to place my hand right in her food dish with no negative reaction, instead she very gently ate from my hand.
3. I have three labs – one is 12, one is 8, and one is a little over a year old. Please keep in mind that my two older labs are typically not fond of other dogs. My lab Harper that is only a little over year, still has not learned the meaning of personal space with people or other animals. Daisy and Harper get along and will play for hours at a time. Daisy will allow Harper to nibble and invade her personal space with no negative reactions. My 12-year-old Maggie did show her teeth and growl at Daisy and Daisy did not react aggressively back.

I have not seen any aggressive behavior from Daisy since she arrived at our home. She is not a dangerous dog and deserves another chance to be happy in her home with Carl and his son. I have not witnessed anything to justify her as being labeled highly aggressive as officer Meves stated to my husband Jake. When we took her in, we were prepared to handle a highly aggressive non obedient dog as this is how she described to Jake prior to her arrival from officer Meeves. The description given to us was not at all accurate. Daisy has been well behaved and a gentle girl even though she was in new surroundings with new humans, and other pets. Please feel free to contact myself or Jake if you have further questions or concerns.
